

Bo Phoenix

Government doesn't actually exist. Just because a large number of people congregate and agree to have the same abstract concepts and fictional ideas that exist in the mind only and just because they agree to threaten you or use extreme violence against you if you don't follow their same beliefs doesn't change the fact that "government" is an imaginary, fictional made-up dogma of ideas and concepts that is nothing more than a horrible nightmare of traditional thoughts running inside your head